

Protect Yourself Online

- * Have a good strong password (CAPITALS, lowercase, &*^%$£” and 298315764) & keep it private. Treat it like your toothbrush (do not share it with friends & change it regularly)

- * Know your privacy setting for each online account –Check them regularly as they can change.
- * Only accept people as ‘friends/followers’ if you know and trust them in real life. Remember anyone you accept as a friend/follower, you invite them into your life!!!!
- * Before you post images/videos/information online or send them through your phone/tablet ask yourself “could this image/video/information be used to”:

- Make fun of me??
- Get me into trouble???
- Or does it give away too much personal information???

If you answer yes to any of these then do not send it because once you hit send you lose control over that image/information and can never fully get it back.

- * Certain sites online can be full of hate. Protect your own mental health by avoiding sites that cause you pain and upset. Instead use sites that you enjoy, which have better safety measures and reporting features.
- * Only share your number/username with friends you trust and never put your phone number online. This way you can protect yourself against unwanted texts and prank calls. Block people that send you unwanted messages or prank call.
- * Respect your friends –do not tag them in pictures that will affect them or post content online that will hurt them.
- * Finally, think before you post or hit send. Count to 10 and ask yourself “if this information became public, how would it affect me? And how would it affect others?”
